Trade negotiations between Australia and the European Union are underway.

This EU funded Erasmus+ Jean Monnet Project aims to help Australian policy makers, industry and civil society understand European Union trade policy.

The training will include:

- an accessible explanation of how the EU works and EU trade policymaking;
- a panel discussion on issues and challenges for the proposed Free Trade Agreement;
- details on key current issues such as Geographic Indications, Investor-State Dispute Settlement, Services and Agricultural Trade; and
- information on how to find out more.

This workshop is designed to support stakeholders from different organisations and sectors who may have little or no familiarity with the EU.

The ANU Centre for European Studies and the EU Centre at RMIT University gratefully acknowledge the support of the European Commission in providing this training in Melbourne.

ANU CENTRE FOR EUROPEAN STUDIES

ANU College of Arts & Social Sciences

The EU Centre at RMIT University was established in January 2010 to promote a better understanding of the EU and EU-Australia relations. The Centre provides a focal point for teaching, research and outreach activities with the EU, Australia and the Asia Pacific region. It acts as an advocate for the EU in the region and facilitates the dissemination of information and knowledge from academia to industry and the community at large. The Centre is funded through grants from the European Union and RMIT University.

The ANU Centre for European Studies (ANUCES) is the oldest research centre in Australia focused on the study of Europe and the European Union. It is an ANU-wide platform for research and collaboration with Europe, with strong links to government and industry. ANUCES focuses the talents of hundreds of researchers, teachers and students on a single site, and proudly promotes interdisciplinary dialogue. It delivers research, education and outreach with the support of the Erasmus+ Programme of the European Union.
